

How to Separate Yourself

- Call the coach.
 - There are strict rules when it comes to communications from a coach, but initiating a call is the best way to avoid rule violations
 - If you call, they CAN speak to you
 - Leave a Voicemail if they don't answer
 - Always "Thank" them for their time!
 - Be interested!
 - If there is a program you like, stay up to date with their progress
 - Let the coach know you are following
 - "Nice win!" or "Good Luck this weekend!"
 - Ask questions?
 - Write a list of some questions to ask the coach about his program
 - What style offense do you play?
 - What do you look for in recruits?
 - How are practices run?
- "I get hundreds of emails each year from kids wanting to play for my team..." – NCAA DI Men's Soccer Coach
- Speak to current student-athletes.
 - Get your name out there to players on the team
 - They will be able to give you different information to the coach
 - Work with a Third-Party!
 - An email or phone call from a third-party can carry a lot of weight with College coaches
 - Especially from someone who has been through the system already
 - Use a NCAA Certified Agency!

Contact Aussie Athletes Agency today, to arrange a free 1-hour consultation at:

info@athletesagency.com.au